Canmore, Alberta, CAN- 4-5.7.98- XC#6-Sydor Wins Big at Home

Alison Sydor (CAN, Volvo-Cannondale) rode with all the authority of an experienced veteran in the mountains above her hometown of Calgary to demolish the opposition and strengthen her lead in the Grundig/UCI World Cup series. Chased gamely for four laps of the Canmore, Alberta circuit by Chantal Daucourt (SUI, Trek-Volkswagen) and current world champion Paola Pezzo (ITA, Gary Fisher), Sydor, 31, was reduced to tears at the end of the most heartfelt victory of her career, one she compared to her Olympic silver medal performance in 1996.

With her win in this sixth race - the first of two rounds where low scores are dropped, Sydor now leads the series by 21 points and is in firm control of her title pursuit. After a self-described 'really disappointing early spring' hampered by a lingering chest cold, she has made a strong return after the long break since Plymouth's round five. Second place finisher Daucourt is now ranked fourth in the series while Laurence Leboucher (FRA, Peugeot-La Poste) is second in the rankings after finishing fourth today.

Conditions were a factor today as the testing course - made more treacherous by an early morning shower of rain - awaited the 65 starters and 5,000 enthusiastic fans with a mix of slippery descents and muddy singletrack. With Margarita Fullana (ESP, Mt. Dew-Specialized) the only top rider absent due to a Spanish Olympic selection race back home, Sydor and Alison Dunlap (USA, Team GT) led the parade lap. By the slippery 'Chute' descent into the lower loop, Dunlap fell off and Sydor had moved 36 seconds clear of Daucourt. Next up was Leboucher, then round four winner Gunn-Rita Dahle (NOR, American Eagle) at 1-07 back.

Sydor had already begun to gap the field, doubling her lead by the beginning of the second lap, with second and third places holding a steady distance between them. Dahle then managed to pass Leboucher while Pezzo rode in fifth in this her first World Cup race since the fourth round in St Wendel.

Nearly two minutes separated Sydor from her rivals a half-lap later as a rejuvenated Anabella Stropparo (ITA, Volvo-Cannondale) began moving up through the field and rode in sixth with Nadia DeNegri (ITA, Bianchi-Martini) close behind. Pezzo passed a slowing Dahle in the feed zone to begin lap three, and was soon on Leboucher's tail, closing the gap from 45 to 20 seconds within one lap. By the last lap's climb, Pezzo passed Leboucher as Sydor - not content with a near three-minute lead - kept pouring it on in front of an exuberantly partisan home crowd.

At race's end Sydor entered the Olympic arena to a huge roar from the fans, which included her father, her emotion showing as she smiled and waved to the crowd. Crossing over a bridge to the finish line, she dismounted and hoisted her bike over her head, overjoyed to win so convincingly - only an hour and a half from her hometown of Calgary. After crossing the line she then watched the rest of the podium-bound women finish, high-fiving teammate Stropparo before succumbing to the emotion of the occasion and bursting into tears during a television interview.

"I'm ecstatic - this win is so important to me," she admitted before moving on to explain what it took to win here. "You had to climb and descend well and pace yourself. You had to be on top of it today, and there was no faking it. This was a true mountain bike course, and to win here in front of this crowd means so much to me."

For Daucourt, winner of the third round in Budapest, a silver medal performance today was easily explained by her frame of mind. "I was feeling great!" she said. "When I came here I didn't expect to do very well so I didn't feel stressed out. I was relaxed and I think it really helped. I was just having fun."

Third place finisher Pezzo, however, was less enthusiastic about her finish. "Today was not so good," she explained. "The four laps were very technical, and it was very difficult physically."
